

Afnan Hassan

CUSTOMER SUPPORT & OPERATIONS PORTFOLIO

Email support · Ticket quality · E-commerce workflows

SUPPORT THAT MOVES THE CASE FORWARD

A training-based portfolio demonstrating how I approach email tickets, refunds, billing questions, tagging, internal notes and escalation. No confidential client information is included.

01 • EMPATHY Acknowledge the customer's concern without overpromising.	02 • ACCURACY Use only verified order, account and policy information.
03 • OWNERSHIP State the next action, owner and follow-up window.	04 • CLEAN HANDOFFS Leave concise notes another agent can continue.

WORKFLOW FAMILIARITY

Zendesk fundamentals · Tags · Macros · Internal notes · Escalation · SLA awareness · Shopify practice · Gorgias familiarity · Google Sheets · Slack · Trello

Customer: “I returned my order last week. Why is my money still missing?”

CUSTOMER-FACING REPLY

Hi Maya, I understand how frustrating it is to wait for a refund after sending the order back. I checked the case notes and the return has been approved. The next step is to confirm whether the refund was released to your original payment method. I'm escalating this to our billing queue now and will update you within one business day. You won't need to contact us again in the meantime.

INTERNAL NOTE & NEXT ACTION

Tag: refund_status · Priority: normal · Verify gateway status. If released, share the approved processing window; if not, escalate to Billing. Follow up within 1 business day.

Customer: “I paid, but I can’t access my account.”

CUSTOMER-FACING REPLY

Hi Daniel, I'm sorry you're unable to access something you've already paid for. I'll help check this. Please confirm the email address used at checkout and send a screenshot of the message you see when signing in. For security, please do not send your password. Once I have those details, I can verify the account and route any technical issue correctly.

INTERNAL NOTE & NEXT ACTION

Tag: account_access · Check purchase email and entitlement record. Never request password. Escalate with screenshot, account email, browser/device and error text.

Customer: “Tracking hasn’t moved for five days. Is my order lost?”

CUSTOMER-FACING REPLY

Hi Sara, I understand why the lack of updates is concerning. The tracking page currently shows no new scan, but that alone does not confirm the parcel is lost. I'm checking this with the shipping team and will return with a verified update within one business day. Thank you for your patience while we investigate.

INTERNAL NOTE & NEXT ACTION

Tag: shipping_delay · Do not invent a delivery date or declare parcel lost. Record last scan, carrier and order number; escalate according to the approved delay threshold.

QUALITY CHECK BEFORE SEND

- ✓ Did I answer the actual question?
- ✓ Did I verify facts instead of guessing?
- ✓ Did I avoid promising an unapproved outcome or deadline?
- ✓ Is the next step clear to the customer?
- ✓ Are tags and internal notes complete?
- ✓ Could another agent continue the case without asking the customer to repeat information?

READY FOR REMOTE WRITTEN SUPPORT

Email support · Chat support · Helpdesk operations · Refund and billing workflows · Customer experience

Afnan Hassan · Giza, Egypt · afnan.hassan865@gmail.com · linkedin.com/in/afnan-hassan-403627231